Gotch under the five fall an hour proposition, he fumed. "If I lose," he said, "everybody will think I'm a big plece of cheese. If it was a straight two out of three match I might lose and it wouldn't be so bad."

Gotch says he'll win to a moral certainty, even if he has to use his famous toe hold to do it. In the latter case Regers will probably retire before the match is over and apply for a pension. Gotch has met Rogers several times in different parts of the country, and has won easily in six or seven minutes in each match. In England Hackenschmidt threw Rogers twice, allowing about seven minutes to the fall.

If Gotch happens to lose to-night Hack will probably defer meeting her which would make a difference of a small fortune in the lowa farmer's bank account.
